TEARS OVER IMP.

THE FAMOUS MARE CAME IN LAST.

COMMANDO FIRST IN THE JUNIOR CHAMPION. It was a steaming, seething afternoon at Gravesend. The mercury was not boiling, but the September humidity was so excessive that the seekers of recreation suffered torments. Had the weather been finer the attendance would have been larger no doubt. But the Joyners, Rowes, Wimmers and other trainers and various jockeys have been doing so many strange things on the turf in this State this year that the masses from whose support racing exists are displeased, and there will be only corporal's guard of spectators at the Westches ter meeting unless a radical improvement is put through. It is true the sport at Gravesend yesterday was in advance of the sport at Sheepshead in one matter. At Sheepshead a fat waisted, fat headed and fat witted Boss named Hitchcock was at the top. As a turf Boss Hitchcock is as addie-pated and objectionable as Platt is in his

Think a few hours over the mismanagement of thoroughbred affairs this season. In this State we have a turf Tsung-Li-Yamen with not much more breadth of view and fitness to cope with Boxers than the Tsung-Li-Yamen in Peking has shown under the orders of that modern Messalina, the Dowager Empress, who has made so sorry a mess of imperial rule in the Middle Kingdom.

Ethelbert is a horse of merit enough to wear the yellow jacket, the peacock feather and the little round button at the top. Moreover, he should be allowed to let the gunpowder run out of the heels of his boots, if he likes. (See Upham's "Mental and Moral Philosophy," edition of 1866, page 103.) But as Joyner has mismanaged that sturdy colt Ethelbert, many persons jeer at Ethelbert, and say he is not much better than a selling plater. flounters and gibers are tangle brained. Ethelbert is made of sound stuff, and if Perry Belmont will get rid of Joyner, and never permit Ethelbert to be ridden by such dissecting room and poolroom cadavers as Spencer and Maher. Ethelbert will prove that he can go at a pace which will fill his owner's soul with joy. The biography of Ethelbert is a sketch which reminds the Biblical scholar of the experience of the unfortunate man who went down to Jericho and fell among bookmakers. And what did the Levite do then? Was the Levite's name Spencer or Maher?

Consider the riding which that hapless victim, Ethelbert, has had in several races this year! Then weep for Ethelbert and his owner!

Was the public, which supports the races, pleased over the results of the Brooklyn, Suburban and over the results of the Brooklyn, Subtroan and Brighton handicaps? Was the public gleeful over the results of the Futurity, the Flatbush and the Champion? It was gulled in every one of those celebrated races, and it was guiled again in the First Special at Gravesend. Imp was a strong popular favorite, as she should have been on public form. The track was dry and fast, and the famous mare was mellow and ripe, trained to the momare was mellow and ripe, trained to the mo-ment, fresh and fleet and stout and strong. George Odom rode her. Only three ran-Imp, Kinley Mack and McMeekin. Imp is owned by an Oblio partnership of two horny handed sons of toil Kinley Mack and McMeekin. Imp is owned by an Obio partnership of two horny handed sons of toil who never hear of a poolroom. Imp's owners ever hear of a poolroom? Never, no, never; or, at least, hardly ever. Kinley Mack is owned by Eastin & Larable, two Western patriarchs, rock ribbed and ancient as the sun. Did Eastin & Larable ever hear of a poolroom? Not in this century. Possibly in the age of Tiglath-Pileser. Kinley Mack is trained by the venerable Peter Wimmer, who invented the game of craps for the amusement of the stonecutters who laid the cornerstone of the tower of Babel. Some of our trainers illustrate the survival of the fittest from remote ages. McMeekin is owned by William M. Barrick, the most eccentric and peculiar man on the American turf. From the tender age of six up to sixteen Mr. Barrick spent his leisure hours in the study of John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress." He can repeat that wonderful allegory by heart from the first line to the last. Mr. Barrick is as bitter a foe to gambling as State Senator "Tim" Sullivan. He steadily seeks to rum the faro-banks by destroying their bank rolls. But the chief aim of his distinguished career is to elevate the down-trodden negro. For decades Mr. Barrick's labors to transfer the colored colony from Captain Cooney's precinct to upper Fifth-ave. have been incessant and indefatigable.

ing their bank rolls. But the chief alm of his distinguished career is to elevate the down-trodden negro. For decades Mr. Barrick's labors to transfer the colored colory from Captain Cooney's prediction of the colored colory from Captain Cooney's prediction of the colored colory from Captain Cooney's prediction of the colored colore admitted that he had not yet done so, but it was not difficult to infer from his worried and anxious semeanor that he would feel it his duty to do so soon.

fairness to Mr. Burke, it should be stated that he denies everything with earnestness and emphasis. The $15,000 contest for two-year-olds, which the Brooklyn Jockey Club calls the Junior Champion Stakes, is not really a championship affair, because the runners have weight penaities and allowances in proportion to their performances. A genuine contest for genuine champions of any age must be at weight for age without weight allowances or penalties. Seven ran for the so-called Junior Champion, and two out of the seven carried the Keene colors. These two were Commando and Olympian. By the conditions Commando cerrifed 127 pounds, while Olympian had only 197 on his back. All the experts looked upon Commando as the certain winner, and the Keene pair was at tremendous odds on. Bellario was the second choice. He fan up to his form, and ran creditably, and got second place, although he carried 117 pounds to the 107 on Olympian, who ran third. But Commando merely played with the lot. He is a great racer, a truly great racer. In the first race Spencer, on St. Finnan. fell, and was somewhat shaken. Nevertheless, he rode Commando in the Junior Champion, which was the third race, and he rode him well. When he gave Commando his head the great coit strode over his adversaries like a conquering field marshal.

A very great racer that Commando, seriely a very great racer. He was not entered in the Futurity, but he was eligible to start in the Flatbush. Why was he not started in the Flatbush. He could have walked off with the Flatbush. Commando is, beyond the shadow of a doubt, a better racer than Ballyhoo Bey by at least five pounds, and a better racer in public than Tommy Atkins by at least seven pounds. Why, then, was Commando kept in the stable while Tommy Atkins was sent out to battle with Ballyhoo Bey in the Flatbush. Since Juness R. Keene went abroad all sorts of odd things have been done with his horses. His son Foxhall is a marvel as a polo player, but he is not wide enough between the eyes to manage a great stable as it Ballyhoo Bey could not possibly have out in the Junior Champion. When M. Murphy bought that colt for a big price he made a sad mistake. King Lief is only a flashy bluffer and a hollow humbug.

S. C. Hidreth's filly Inshot was a strong favorite and an easy winner in the sixth race, a selling affair for two-year-olds. Inshot was entered to be sold for $1,200. Michael Clancy ran her up and bought her for $2,000.

M. Murphy's Gertrude Elliott, winner of the fifth race, was entered to be sold for $1,000. F. Burlew. Newton Bennington's trainer, and the owner of Animosity, who ran second to Gertrude Elliott, rac he winner up to $1,400, and got her at that price. Burns. Turner and Henry were fined $25 each for breaking through the berrier in the first race. Biack claimed a foul against Burns on Flaunt in the last race, but the claim was dismissed. The stewards have ordered that the entry of Maximo Gomez be refused until they are satisfied that the borse is in condition to race. Hidreth says that he sent a man to the secretary's office early in the afternoon to scratch Maximo Gomez, but by mistake he withdrew Trillo. Maximo Gomez was very lame. Hildreth has been doing some extremely queer things with this horse.

The champions are not playing the baseball these days that they did earlier in the season. The team in Brooklyn is weak in pitchers and the rest of the players seem to feel it too keenly. The result is that the team wavers at important stages of the game, and consequently does not play with the dash and confidence which won for Brooklyn many a hard battle this and last year. McGinnity seems to be the only pitcher at present who can be depended upon. The game at Washington Park, Brooklyn, yes-The game at Washington Park, Brooklyn, yesterday was between the Brooklyn and Cincinnati teams. The home players took a long lead in the first two innings, but weakened sadly toward the close of the contest. With the score 6 to 3 in favor of Brooklyn in the seventh inning, Howell went to pieces in the next, and the visiting players were enabled to tie the score. It was too dark to play after the ninth inning, and the game ended in a draw. In the eighth inning a single by McBride, a three bagger by Brounstein, and Barrett's home run scored the three runs for Cincinnati necessary to tie the game. Score:

TAILENDERS WIN AND TIE.

New-York won a game and played a draw with the Chicagos at the Polo Grounds yesterday. The first game was practically a walkover for the local nine. In the second, however, Griffith had them ng until the ninth inning, when a double by Van Halfren and singles by Bowerman and Sey mour, an out and a wild pitch enabled the New-Yorks to tie the score. The game was called on account of darkness. The protest which New-York entered after being beaten by Philadelphia on Au-gust 24 has not been allowed. The scores:

ANOTHER RIDER PLACED IN THE CYCLE PATH HANDICAP.

A meeting of the Race Committee of the Asso ciated Cycling Clubs of Long Island, in conjunction with the officials of the Cycle Path Handicap of Labor Day, was held last night at the house of the Kings County Wheelmen, and the result is that another rider, Spice, of the Kings County Wheelmen, will receive a place among the prize winners. Three protests were filed by riders, who all contended they had finished in the same bunch with Bleecker, the time prize winner, but were not scored. Bleecker got afteenth place. Spice was the only one of the three who offered any evidence to support his contention. He submitted affidavits from reputable fellow members who saw him finish. He will probably be placed nineteenth. The interclub team road race of the Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island will be held next month.

Henry Owden and Ernest Morton, two Canadian Pacific messenge: boys, arrived in this city on Mon-day evening from Montreal. They made the trip on their bicycles. According to their story, the boys left Montreal at 4 o'clock on Saturday morning. Early that evening they stopped at Blue Stores, Y., expecting to put up for the night, but the hotelkeeper refused to accept a five-dollar Canadian bill in payment, and the boys paid for their meals with a one-dollar American bill, and after a rest of five hours continued on their journey. The boys passed through Plattsburg, Whitehall, Saratoga, Troy and Albany, and then followed the Hudson River to this city, arriving at One-hundred-and-fifty-fifth-st, and Eighth-ave, at 6:39 o'clock on Monday evening. From there they went to the Broadway office of the Postal Telegraph Cable company and reported to the manager of the measenger department. The boys were on the road sixty-two and one-half hours, including the five hours' rest at Blue Stores. They say they have broken the record by more than a day. hotelkeeper refused to accept a five-dollar Canadian

The New-York State Division of the Century Road Club of America will conduct its second an nual individual record of one hundred miles on Sunday, September 23. This run receives its name from the fact that no pacemakers are used, and each rider may choose his own rate of speed and make as few or as many stops as he pleases. The time of each will be taken at the start and again at the finish, and the difference, or the individual record of the rider, will be engraved on the medal record of the rider, will be engraved on the medal provided, so that he will have evidence to show in what time he can really complete a century ride unpaced. On the ordinary century run a rider cannot pass his pacemakers, and on a private century it is difficult to prove the time made, so that this will be the one chance of the year for the rider to have the official score of his best century taken by the Century Road Ciub. In addition to the individual record feature, there will be special prizes given to the first ten or more to complete the distance, and in order to give every rider a chance to win handicaps will be allotted by a committee, according to the ability and past performances of each rider.

the headquarters of the committee having charge of the run will be established at Eighth-ave, and Fifty-ninth-st., from which the start will be made at 5:40 a. m. Souvenir cuff buttons will be distribafter the finish at Bedford Rest, Brooklyn. Mem-bers of the committee will also be present at Rockaway Beach, where dinner is to be served, to see that all who attend the run receive the best dinner possible to serve at this seaside resort. Orders have already been given for sight hundred dinners, and if entries continue to be received in such numbers as they have been coming in during the last few days it will be necessary to increase the order materially.

In presenting the first annual lobster century run under the auspices of the Century Road Club Association over the Long Island century course the committee does not consider it as an original lobster run, as such an affair was held some years ago in Boston, and all who participated in it re member what a success it was and know that such a big run has never been held since, but it is to the credit of the Century Club Road Association to offer New-York its original run of this sort. This affair is to be held on Sunday, September 30, and will be captained by Dr. F. A. Myrick, while the chief pacemaker will be D. M. Ades. A lobster dinner will be served at Rockaway Beach.

HARNESS RACING.

METEORIC SPEED OF THE PACERS AT EMPIRE CITY PARK.

The brilliant performances of the trotters on Monday were followed yesterday by a meteoric speed display on the part of the pacers at the grand cirult meeting at Empire City Park. Early in the morning, before the crowd had reached the course, James Butler's black gelding Coney was driven a mile to wagon in the unprecedented time of 2:02%. The performance was not technically a record, but it was timed by a score or more of experts. The time of the mile is far below anything that a pacer has accomplished to wagon. Coney is going to try again later in the week to repeat the formance or better it under conditions which will constitute a record.

The twelve-year-old converted trotter Connor surprised even his owner and admirers by reeling off a mile in 2:05% in the first half of the 2:05 race. Frank Bogash was the hottest kind of a favorite before the start, selling for $100 to $20 for the field in the auction pools. Connor swept right around the field at the head of the homestretch and literally jogged the last fifty or sixty yards of this mile. In one of the closest finishes ever seen on a racetrack the gallant old horse was beaten a short nose in 2:05 in the second heat, Royal R Sheldon winning. But Connor came back with a third mile in 2:97 and again defeated his rivals

There was a long drawn out contest in the 2:09 ace, three horses dividing the heats before the end came. Harry O., an Indiana pacer that has come down the line of the Grand Circuit, getting part of the purse at every town, carried the bulk of the money, with Will Leyburn second choice. The favorite won the first two heats in 2:06% and 2:06 after close finishes with Flirt and Will Leyburn. Just as the race appeared to be his he was beaten out at the finish of the third heat by Fanny Dillard in 2:061/2. She won the fourth heat in 2:07%. There was crowding on the upper turn in the next heat and Fanny Dillard came home last of all the field, with one wheel of the sulky running on the hub, the wire wheel having collapsed after the collision with Sidney Pointer Will Leyburn won the heat in 2:09. With only the heat winners starting in the sixth round, the little bay mare carried her hopples to the front at the finish and won the race in 2:09. This race goes into the records as the fastest six heat race of the The speed rate was 2:0714, a remarkable average for a race of six heats. The speed rate in the other race was 2:06, while the average of the pacers for the day was 2:06%.

The home talent got a hard fall when the fast young trotter, Tiverton, owned by A. B. Gwath-mey, was beaten in the 2:30 race. He had been trained three years, and had worked a mile in 2:13% this season. He was well backed to win the race, though the four-year-old chestnut colt Major Greer started favorite. Some of the backers of the local horse suspected they were not getting a drive for their money in the first heat, Tiverton coming dawn the homestretch all doubled Tiverton coming dawn the homestretch all doubled up under a strong pull, with his head around to one side. He seemed to have the speed of the party, but Major Greer beat him a length in 2:14 for the mile. Tiverton's bridle had become misplaced, which explained his queer performance in the stretch. In the second heat he was hustled to the front at the start, rushing away at top speed and opening a gap of six or eight lengths before the quarter pole was reached. He held his advantage to the haif, mile pole, but the killing drive pumped him out, and nearly every horse in the race beat him out to the wire, Major Greer again winning in 2:14½. For a moment in the final heat the Denver four-year-old appeared to be beaten. The Boston mare Dolly Bidwell made a rush on the upper turn, taking the pole and the lead. But she weakened in the homestretch and Major Greer beat her out by a length in a whipping drive, upper turn, taking the pole and the lead. But she weakened in the homestretch and Major Greer beat her out by a length in a whipping drive, equalling the time of his first heat. The winner landed his maiden race at Hartford last week. Bert Herr, one of the starters in this race, has started seven times this season and has been distanced in the first heat of every race.

One heat was paced in the wagon race for road horses, C. K. G. Billings, with Hontas Crooke, beating Silvermaker, Quadriga and Watcheye in 2:12 Summarles:

YACHTING.

LESS THAN A MINUTE BEHIND AT GOAL A CLOSE RACE BETWEEN THE VREDA AND THE MERRY THOUGHT.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 11.-The Royal Canadian Yacht Club 50-footers the Merry Thought, owner and skipper A. Jarvis, of Toronto, and the Vreda owner and skipper A. G. Puchen, of Toronto, raced to-day for the valuable cup hung up by George W Sweeney, of the Hotel Ontario, known as the Hotel At 11 o'clock the yachts crossed the line with the Vreda a boat length in the lead. The race was over a triangular course of three and one-third miles to each leg, the yachts going twice over, making a total distance of twenty miles in all. The wind was almost directly south, five miles an hour, with a tendency to freshen. The two yachts rounded the first stakeboat at 11:38 a. m. on exactly even terms. Both then squared away on the street terms. terms. Both then squared away on the port tack for the second stakeboat, having up mainsall, club topsall, staysall and two jibs. The Vreda won the cup by 55 seconds, passing the finish line at 2:23:29.

THE MINEOLA'S MISTAKE EXPLAINED. There has been some talk about August Beimont's 70-footer Mineola's failure to find the outer mark in the race for the Postley Cup on last Saturday. The error, Mr. Belmont says, was his, and not that of Skipper Wringe. The sailing instructions for the race mentioned a dory and a white ball, which everybody on the Mineola had fully in sight, but which Mr. Belmont, who had an old chart of the outer mark as a white spar buoy. This had been removed by the Government, and hence the Mineola was hunting for something which did not exist.

Even the Yankee, which had adhered closel the sailing instructions, and had turned the as the outer mark, was in doubt, and remained doubt until she hailed the committee hoat.

FOR THE LIPTON CUP RACE. The race for the Lipton Cup between the 70footers Virginia, Mineola, Rainbow and Yankes has been creating a stir in yachting circles esponse to several inquiries, the Iron Steamboat Company will dispatch one of its large seago steamboats from Pier (new) No. 1, North River, morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

PRIZEFIGHTING SWINDLES.

THE WIVES OF M'COY AND CORBETT WANT DIVORCES-BOTH WOMEN SAY THAT THE RECENT MEETING WAS A FRAUD ON THE PUBLIC.

Every day brings to light additional convincing arguments that the recent McCoy-Corbett alleged prizefight at Madison Square Garden was one of the most gigantic of the many swindles enacted under the protection of the Horton law. While deent athletic institutions like the New-York Athletic Club and Y. M. C. A. gymnasiums wer oldden to have sparring bouts between members professional promoters and swindlers were per mitted under the law to ficece the general public to their hearts' content. And yet "Tim" Su and the rowdies and thugs who appear to be greatest admirers are at this time scheming to through the Legislature some law which will mit future disreputable encounters in order to bus the nublic.

mit future disceptiable encounters in order to humbug the public.

Mrs. Norman Selby, the wife of "Kid" McCoy, in her answer to her husband's complaint for a divorce, makes a statement which agrees substantially with the statement made recently by Mrs. James J. Corbett that the contest between the two men was a sham and a conspiracy to dupe the public. In her statement Mrs. Selby says that McCoy deliberately arranged to "lay down" to Corbett, and that McCoy's share of the flasco was $160,000. She says that her husband entered into an agreement with "Eddie" Burke and "Harry" Heines, a bookmaker and a gambler respectively, by which Corbett was to be bet on throughout the country. She says that Burke and Heines, in order to secure themselves, compelled McCoy to deposit money that he would keep his agreement, and that McCoy did turn over to Burke Canadian Pacific Railway securities to the amount of $10,000. Mrs. Selby says further that Corbett and McCoy divided the receipts at the Garden evenly, and that McCoy's share amounted to $22,000. She intimated that the alleged saloon quarrel between McCoy and Corbett was a prearranged affair merely to attract public attention. the alleged saloon quarrel between McCoy and Corbett was a prearranged affair merely to attract public attention.

THE TRIBUNE SAID SO AT ONCE.

From The Tribune of August 31.

From The Tribune of August 31.

The last prizefight to be held in Madison Square Garden under the protection of the Horton law was decided last night when James J. Corbett and "Kid" McCoy, two local saloonkeepers, settled their differences in the roped arena. Corbett received the decision in the fifth round. There were three rounds of clever sparring, one—the fourth—showed a little fighting by Corbett, while in the fifth round after the men had been in the ring for two minutes and three seconds, McCoy slid gracefully to the floor and the referee gave the fight, or whatever it was, to Corbett. Some of the 6,000 or 7,000 spectators thought that the battle was all right, and that the men who played the principal parts in the ring were sincre. Many others thought differently.

The betting before the contest aroused some comment, and the appearance of the two men caused even more. At first the betting was $100 to $90, with Corbett the favorite. There was little McCoy money in sight, however, and the odds on Corbett went to 2 to 1. Offers of $1,000 to $90 against McCoy brought out no takers. McCoy stripped in apparently splendid condition, while Corbett looked even paler than usual, and his muscular condition was not of the best. There were those after the fight who said that the money had been evenly divided between the two fighters, or fakirs, as the case might be: that within a short time a new drinking emporium would come to light, and that intemperance would be encouraged by the firm of "Corbett & McCoy." The new firm, with an advantageous situation on Broadway, might do a profitable business in the "wet goods" with an advantageous situation on Broadway might do a profitable business in the "wet goods" line.

at 6 p. m. There will be thirty-four contests necessary to decide the championships.

While last Saturday's contests were interesting and the performances of Maxwell W. Long well worthy of note, he will find on Saturday that he will not have things so much his own way. John Mack, the well known trainer, who has been training Frank E. Stephen, the Canadian fiyer, for the 109 and 220 yard dashes, states that he will be able to dispose of Long's aspitations.

The entry of Dennis Horgan, who will represent Ireland in the shot putting competition, will please those who follow the doings of the big men. Horgan has felt since his defeat in London by "Dick" Sheldon that if he had another chance he could turn the tables, and he has crossed the Atlantic to meet his London conqueror. Those who know Horgan predict that he will make a new record. to meet his London conqueror. Those who know Horgan predict that he will make a new record. George Orton, who won international hionors at Paris, is entered in the long runs, the mile and the three mile, and Marshall, the well known New-England flyer, is entered in the 100 and 220 yard senior and junior contests.

LAWN TENNIS.

THE HUDSON RIVER CHAMPIONSHIP TOUR-NAMENT CONTINUED AT YONKERS.

Another bright day favored the lawn tennis players yesterday, and the championship tournament of the Hudson River Lawn Tennis Association was continued in the afternoon on the courts of the Amackassin Club, in Yonkers. The feature of the day was the reappearance in tournament play of Mrs. W. H. Pouch, of Newburg, who was better known before she was married, when, as Miss Helen Hellwig, she held the National championship for women. Mrs. Pouch showed much of her former skill, although she has not practised enough to keep up to championship form.

In the mixed doubles she and her husband lost in the mixed doubles she and her husband lost the first set of their match against Miss Birdseye and Mr. Hatch, but soon recovered and won the next two sets with ridiculous ease. Davis and Ketcham, of Yonkers, came close to causing an "upset" in the first round of the men's doubles, when they captured their first set from Batt and Millard, the crack Tarrytown team, but they were finally beaten after a close struggle in the third set. The day's matches resulted as follows:

THE CONTESTS AT MORRISTOWN

Morristown, N. J., Sept. 11 (Special).—Few matches were played to-day in the lawn tennis tournament for the championship of the Morris-town Field Club. While it was an off day, the sport was good, especially in the women's singles, There are several college girls in this contest, and the rivalry among them is of the keenest sort. Miss Emily M. Little made a striking record in the contest for the semi-final round against Miss Evelyn J. Adams. In the first set Miss Little took the lead by her dashing play at the net. Miss Adams endeavored to drive her opponent from this position of advantage by high deep lobbs. She was not successful, however, as Miss Little made her returns with remarkable accuracy and took the set at 6-1. But Miss Adams had developed a strongly aggressive game, and in the second set forged to the front at 4-3. At this stage of the contest Miss Little made a heroic effort, and by skilfully placed drives combined with brilliant cross court shots pulled out four straight games and the victory. Miss Mary Behr also performed cleverly against Miss Jennette Hurlbut. She won in straight sets, and both Miss Little and Miss Behr are now expected to meet in the final battle for the championship

The men's doubles were started, one exciting The men's doubles were started, one exciting match resulting. The winning pair were L. S. Freeman and Oscar B. Smith, ir. They were in splendld form and stroke, defeating A. Turnbull and C. R. Woodward, despite their plucky uphilinght. Karl H. Behr and Oscar B. Smith, ir., each captured a place in the semi-final round of the championship singles. Smith snuffed out the chances of W. A. Shaw, who played with cleverness and accuracy in the initial set. The matches scheduled for to-morrow will bring the games up to the semi-final round in all of the contests.

FOOTBALL MEN AT WORK.

New-Haven, Conn., Sept. 11.—The squad of disteen candidates for the Columbia for who are training at Branford were taken out the afternoon shortly before 4 o'clock by Foster Sirford, the coach, who put them through a practice of an hour and a half that for an opening day was quite stiff. He worked the squad in two division and drilled nearly all the men in the position of quarterback. Austin was used the greater part of the time to snap the ball back, and Manton was complimented by Coach Sanford for his showing at quarterback. Van Huydenberg, the substitute quarterback of last year, also did some good work with the ball.

YALE, HARVARD AND PRINCETON DATES New-Haven, Conn., Sept. 11.-R B. Nixon, manager of the Yale Football Association, arrived as night and began laying plans for the reception of the varsity eleven when it comes Friday. He said that the date of the Harvard-Yale game had been set as November 2s at Yale Field, and that of the Yale-Princeton game for November 17 at Prince-ton.

PILLSBURY AND SHOWALTER BACK. Pillsbury and Showalter, the two American chess players who took part in recent European interna-tional tournaments, have returned to this city, the former on Monday, the latter yesterday. Soth men looked well and seemed not to have suffered much from the strain of the Paris and Munich contests. Pillsbury said that he never intended to tour in Europe in company with Lasker, Maracay. Janowski and Schlechter, but that he had made arrangements to begin his third annual tour

He will, however, go to Monte Carlo, should an international tournament be played in that dir, this winter. Showalter will in all probability play a match with some European player in the near future. EMPIRE CITY TRACK.
